JACK, SPEAKER AT POMONA GRANGE TUESDAY

Despite the rain of Tuesday, 130 members of Pomona Grange were in attendance at Welchville. The degree was conferred on five candidates at the morning session.

The speaker of the afternoon was L. A. Jack of Lisbon Falls; his subject being, "The Land of the Free and Home of the Brave." He spoke of the so-called Grange measures that have been before the Legislature, these being relative to the tax on intangible property and that of an excise tax of hydro-electric companies.

He said people have been doing too little thinking about State affairs but now that they are hit by hunger they commence to wonder why; and how to get out of their difficulties.

He said the prominence made of the beer question is to keep the minds of the people off more important matters.

He showed that during the war many people became very wealthy. The dollar a year man saw to it that his company got next to the government and was well repaid. He said though there is more money in the country today than ever before it is doubtful if $200 could be raised in this audience.

He said he is proud to be called one of the Grange "hill billys" or "hicks." While he was a candidate for office he said he could not get before the so called eating clubs; twice before Rotary Clubs, once at a Lions meeting and the Thirteen class. He being a radical was not wanted in such places.

The Grange is the only organization in the State where both sides of a question are discussed.

He explained how bills go through committees and that if a lawyer could pick the jury as the Speaker of the House and President of the Senate pick the committees he could win every case.

For three sessions the grange bills were turned down; first entered by George C. Wing, then by himself, then by George Ashby of Aroostook county. All were turned down in committee. Then the initiative was used and the propositions will now go before the people. To the Grange state officers credit is due for this important move.

He reiterated what he has said before about the power companies being taxed at 8 1/2 mills, on one fifth of their value, while in some towns in Maine farm property is taxed 100 per cent; this is very near confiscation.

He assured his hearers that if the bill becomes law the power companies will not be able to pass on the tax to consumers; it must go to the Public Utilities first.

If in the future the tax should be passed on to the consumers that will be better than now because now many people help pay the tax who do not use power; the users should pay the tax.

He spoke of the accomplishments of the recent session of the Legislature. He said they passed some bear bills, and a beer bill, but they didn't balance the budget. Leaving that to a Democratic Governor and a Republican Council.

Other speakers were L. L. Cummings, Fred Wentzel, Harry G. Harlow, and V. V. Canham. The program included a piano duet by Misses Edna Hannaford and Edith Wood; monologue, Miss Virginia Holden; and a reading by James Neale.

The census showed this attendance.

BLUEBIRDS IN SUCCESSFUL BROADCAST FROM WCHS

Last Sunday at 8 P. M. many of the radios in town were tuned in at Portland to receive the broadcast by the Bluebird Orchestra. The personnel of this orchestra, composed of local school children, is as follows:

The broadcast was much enjoyed by local people and showed the time and effort which have been so faithfully devoted to the training of this orchestra, and Mrs. Young may justly be proud of the results of her efforts.

MRS. LYDIA D. GROVER

Mrs. Lydia Diana, widow of Leander Gage Grover, died Saturday, April 1, at 10 p. m., following a few weeks illness.

Mrs. Grover was born in Bethel, April 23, 1842, the daughter of Elijah and Lydia Haskell Wheeler. In young womanhood she followed the vocation of teaching. In 1869 she was united in marriage with Leander G. Grover who was a veteran of the Civil War, and six children were born to them.

Although a great home lover, she found time for one of her accomplishments, that of drawing, which she much enjoyed, and for many years she sang in the choir of the Free Baptist church at West Bethel, of which she was a member, and where she kept her membership as long as the church was in existence.

Mrs. Grover is survived by her six children: Mrs. Arvilla D. Wilson, Bethel; Channing L. Grover, Springvale; Elizabeth L. York, Lewis Seldon Grover, Mrs. Letha A. Churchill, Mrs. Constance H. Wheeler, Bethel; several grandchildren and great grandchildren.

Funeral services were held at her late home Tuesday afternoon, Rev. Elwin Wilson of Westbrook, a grandson of Mrs. Grover, officiating. Interment was at Woodlawn cemetery.

HOWARD WILEY

Howard Wiley, son of the late Goodwin R. and Matilda Swift Wiley, passed away suddenly last Thursday in a Portland hospital.

Mr. Wiley was born in Bethel Jan. 21, 1876, and was educated in the town schools and Gould Academy. He was a Pullman conductor on the Boston & Maine railroad for many years and has since been for several years been manager of an A. & P. store at South Portland.

Besides his widow he is survived by a brother, Dr. Arthur G. Wiley of Bar Mills; two sisters, Mrs. George Chase of Portland and Mrs. Harvey McCure of Bangor; and several nieces.

Funeral services were held at So. Portland and the remains were brought here Saturday for burial at Woodlawn Cemetery.

Wm. Bingham 2d Presents New Building to Gould

Present Structure to be Razed to Make Room for Modern School Building and Equipment

THE STAR OF GOULD ACADEMY STILL IN THE ASCENDENT

Friends of Gould Academy everywhere will rejoice to know that another great and urgent need of the school is to be met.

For some three years the main academy building has been crowded beyond reasonable limits, even though the number of boarding pupils was greatly reduced in order that all day pupils might be accepted. This has necessitated running the dormitories at great loss besides turning away desirable pupils.

Some months ago, Mr. William Bingham, to whom Gould Academy and Bethel already owe so much, expressed an interest in providing a building to meet all present and future needs. Mr. Bingham gave no definite intimation as to how such a building would materialize, but all rumors to the contrary notwithstanding.

Preliminary plans and estimates have been made and remade, and Principal Hanscom, Dr. Farnsworth, Mr. Bingham and Architect Carlson have given much time and thought, evolving plans for a building that would meet all needs, be wholly practical, and at the same time dignified and in harmony with the buildings already supplied through Mr. Bingham's great generosity.

This week a communication has been received from Dr. Farnsworth, acting for Mr. Bingham, offering to present to the school the needed building and to provide for its maintenance.

It now needs only the acceptance of this offer by the Trustees of the school and the approval of plans, in order to have the architect proceed with permanent plans and specifications. How long this will take is somewhat a matter of conjecture, but it is hoped that the work of construction will be underway by late spring or early summer.

A resurgence of gratitude goes out to Mr. Bingham from the citizens of Bethel, and from the friends and alumni of Gould Academy wherever found for such a worthy, Mr. Bingham and Architect Carlson have given much time and

LEGION AUXILIARY TO PRESENT NORWAY PLAYERS TOMORROW EVENING

The Anderson Players, sponsored by the Bethel unit of the Legion Auxiliary, bring to Odeon Hall Friday evening, April 7, a production of rare merit, "Mary Made Some Marmalade," has a unique dramatic combination of melodramatic theme of yesterday with a modern atmosphere. Melodrama at its best, with a lack of sophistication and gun play, is embodied in this show.

Father Tower Anderson, as Ma Riddling, portrays the home-loving mother we all have known and loved, as she grieves and rejoices with the varying moods of her husband and family in all their trials and tribulations. Her family, consisting of her husband, H. A. Anderson, as Pa Riddling; her son, George (Clayton Murch); her two daughters Mary (Madelyn Hayden) and Helen (Lucy Cobb); all present a problem which tests to the limit these age-old attributes given to only one person in the world—a mother—and they are love and patience.

JUNIOR CHOR IN PROSPECT AT METHODIST CHURCH

The Music Committee of the M. E. Church entertained prospective members of the Junior Choir at an April Fool Party in the church dining room Saturday evening. About twenty young people enjoyed an evening of games, stunts, and jokes. The refreshments were ice cream balls with candy faces, and inverted cones with marshmallow pompons for hats, and animal crackers.

It is the ambition of the Music Committee, which consists of Mrs. Millie Wentzell, chairman, Mrs. Earl Davis, Mrs. Emma Haselton, Mrs. Myrtle Lapham, and Mrs. Edna York, to arrange a choir made up of young people to add to the older choir members and to furnish special programs. This should not be difficult to accomplish as there are many fine voices in our younger group and it is hoped that all these who enjoyed the party as well as many others will attend the first choir rehearsal which is to be held at the church Friday evening, April 7, at 7:30.

Keep Watch for the "Feverish Cold"

If you are "run down" or out of condition, if sluggish bowels have allowed poisonous impurities to accumulate in your system, you are very liable to suffer from "feverish" colds.

Dr. True's Elixir Laxative Worm Expeller will ward off or lessen these attacks by getting relief from constipation.

Mrs. E. W. Stephan of 31 Kennerly Road, Dorchester, Mass., writes:—"It was recommended to me by a relative who had used it for years, and I in turn most sincerely recommend it, most of all for children, but also as a laxative for adults."

Successfully used for 82 years.

TWO-MINUTE SERMON
(By REV. GEORGE HENRY)

APPRECIATION

Never judge a man by the clothes he wears, by the expression of his face, by his stature, by his color, or by any other external. Of course, if a man is clean, has a cheerful and pleasing countenance, is six feet high, proportionate, and white, it is all in his favor; but he may be black as hell inside and as ugly as sin. We find ourselves compelled very often to reverse our decisions and to recall first impressions. "God looketh not upon a man's countenance, nor upon the height of his stature, but upon the heart." "Some folks in looks take so much pride, they don't think much of what's inside. Well, as for me, I know my face can never be made a thing of grace, and so I rather think I'll see how I can fix the inside of me, so folk'll say, 'he looks like sin, but aint he beautiful within?'"

Rowe Hill, Greenwood

Mr. and Mrs. Lester Cole and children of Greenwood Centre spent the day last Thursday with Mr. and Mrs. Elton Dunham.

Norma Ring visited Lena Yates at Tubbs District over the week end. Miss Yates returned home with her for a visit.

SOW SPRING SAFETY
SEEDS EARLY

As winter begins to relax, golfers start thinking of fairways, fishermen of cool streams trickling away in the mountains, families of rides on warm, bright Sunday afternoons and in the twilight of the rapidly lengthening evenings. It's time to get the family automobile ready for another season.

Let us pause for a moment to consider the new season. Will it be like the last? Will it cost the lives of 29,500 more Americans? Will it bring serious and painful injury to nearly a million more? Will it cause an economic loss to the nation in excess of two billion dollars? That's the record of the 1932 automobile season. It should never be repeated.

It is true that there were fewer accidents and fatalities last year than there were in 1931, but much of the reduction was accounted for by decreased use of automobiles. On the other hand, safety workers and educators in accident prevention can view the results with a certain personal pride. If their teachings are beginning to gain results, or if the tragic record of the past is beginning to influence the man behind the steering wheel, we may look with greater hope to 1933.

"Get out the family car by all means," says James A. Beha, General Manager, National Bureau of Casualty and Surety Underwriters. "Make sure it's in perfect condition. Have it inspected as to brakes, lights, steering mechanism, tires, rear vision mirrors and windshield wipers—all the small equipment which means so much to safety. Then resolve to drive safely, obey traffic laws and think of the other fellow."

Soft blue shadows of morning
Had scarcely faded and gone,
When a dove, with broken plume,
In the wind's vortex was drawn
That topped a rounded hill,
Where lupines grew at random
And poppies bloomed at will.

"Oh, sad," mourned the lost
One,
As the flowers said: "We know
The reason for your mourning,
For soon we, too, must go
To loosen petals drifting
Before the ruthless wind—"
"Oh, sad," came the echo,
My mate I long to find.

May be heard throughout the hours,
At number the reign of summer
And the queenship of the flowers,

But as the wilder blew the wind,
And as the night grew drearier,
Adown the glen rode armed men,
Their tramping sounded nearer.

"O haste thee, haste," the lady cries,
"Through tempests round us gather-th!"

"I'll meet the raging of the skies,
But not an angry father!"

The boat has left the stormy land,
A stormy sea before her—When, oh, too strong for human hand,

The tempest gathered o'er her
And still they row'd amid the roar
Of waters fast prevailing;
Lord Ullin reach'd that fatal shore,
His wrath was changed to wailing.

For sore dismay'd, through storm and shade,
His child he did discover:
One lovely hand she stretch'd forward.

"Come back! come back!" he cried in grief,
Across this stormy water:
"And I'll forgive your Highland chief."

"My daughter!—oh my daughter!"
"Twas vain the loud waves lashed the shore,
Return or aid preventing:
The waters wild went o'er his child—
And he was left lamenting."

A bar to hope, a bar to prayer,
A door to darkness and despair.

A bar to honored, useful life,

A door to every drunkard's grave;
A bar to joy that home imparts,
A door to tears and aching hearts;

A bar to Heaven, a door to Hell—
Whoever named it, named it well!

GOINGS ON IN MAINE

By Leon G. Cates

The eighty-sixth Legislature adjourned sine die. This session had not been altogether unlike those of previous years. Still, there had been problems confronting the Legislature, and many of them had been solved largely on account of the action of the Legislature through which we are passing. I doubt if any previous Legislature ever had a harder time making the State's expenditures meet the State's income.
The State's income has decreased a half million of dollars in the last two years—and on top of that a million dollars in the State Treasury is tied up in banks that open after the bank holdings on top of that the valuation of taxable property has been raised by the State Assessor over sixty million dollars. And the face of all this, the 86th Legislature made provision for the State of Maine on a tax rate of 10 mills, which is the same rate as the past two years. They are to do this by cutting down expenditures totaling over $4,750,000 for the next two years.

Outside of the Banking legislation, which was probably the most important legislation in the history of the State of Maine and the following is some of the most important acts passed and adopted in the past three months. The act which, unless there is a change to delay it for four months, will allow beer to be sold in Maine in conformity with the national beer law just passed by Congress. Also the act which allows the transportation of liquor in Maine under this measure liquor can be transported to the State of Maine, provided the intention of selling it. It allows Summer visitors to travel with their liquor in this State without fear of arrest as long as it is for their own personal use.

On next September 11th the people of Maine will vote "yes or no" on the two bills sponsored by the Legislature to tax intangibles. The first bill is to tax the gross revenue of electric power and light companies. On that same date the Legislature will also elect their delegates to the State Convention to decide upon the federal Eighteenth Amendment.

One of the surprises of the Legislature was the enactment of the Sunday Sports Bill, legalizing sports on Sunday after baseball and other games are held on Sundays in the goodness knows when they have not been legal. The bill is to be regulated by the Liquor Commission. The game of Tax was not enacted.

The Primary election laws were amended. The Label m-investigate the expenditure of the educational department was passed. The bounty on bear skins has been suspended for years, that is a sad way of thinking. The law was not changed.

If you call on the town to do still lose your right to

GOINGS ON IN MAINE

By Leon G. Cates

The eighty-sixth Legislature has adjourned sine die. This session has not been altogether unlike sessions of previous years. Still, they have had problems confronting them that no other session has had; largely on account of the new through which we are now passing. I doubt if any previous Legislature ever had a harder time going to make the State's expenditures meet the State's income. The State's income has decreased two and a half millions of dollars in the last two years—and on top of that a million dollars in the State's treasury is tied up in banks that did not open after the bank holiday—on top of that the valuation of taxable property has been decreased by the State Assessors by over sixty million dollars. And in the face of all this, the 86th Legislature made provision for running the State of Maine on a tax rate of 1 mill, which is the same rate as the past two years. They were able to do this by cutting out expenditures totaling over $4,758,000 for the next two years.

Outside of the Banking legislation, which was probably the most important legislation in the interest of the State of Maine and its institutions, the following is a list of some of the most important matters past upon and adopted during the past three months. The beer bill, which, unless there is a referendum to delay it for four months after the time it would ordinarily go into effect, will allow beer to be sold in Maine in conformity with the national beer law just passed by Congress. Also the Weatherbee bill which allows the transportation of liquor in Maine was passed under this measure liquor of any kind can be transported in the State of Maine, provided there is no intention of selling it. It will allow summer visitors to transport their liquor in this State without fear of arrest as long as it is for their own personal use.

On next September 11th the people of Maine will vote "yes" or "no" on the two bills sponsored by the Grange to tax intangibles, and also to tax the gross revenue of electric power and light companies. On that same date they will also elect their delegates for the State Convention to decide how Maine shall stand on the repeal of the federal Eighteenth Amendment. One of the surprises of this Legislature was the enactment of the Sunday Sports Bill, legalizing certain sports on Sunday afternoons. Baseball and other games have been held on Sundays in Maine since goodness knows when, but they have not been legal. Trucks are to be regulated by the Public Utilities Commission. The general sales tax was not enacted. And the Primary election laws were not changed. The Lebel measure to investigate the expenditures for the educational department was enacted. The bounty on bears and carapines has been suspended for two years, that is a sad chapter to any way of thinking. The lobster law was not changed.

If you call on the town for help or still lose your right to vote, that's another and chapter in these hard times when most of the men who have been obliged to call on the towns for temporary assistance would work if they could. Most of them are unemployed through no fault of their own. And, but not least, the laws enacted are not to be circulated in the newspapers as heretofore. If you want a copy of all the laws just passed, write to the State Printer, Augusta, and he will send you a copy.

FARM AND HOME WEEK DRAWS LARGE ATTENDANCE

"We will plant another crop of potatoes just the same." In these words, George E. Findlen of Fort Fairfield, touched the note of sentiment expressing the spirit of over 1,100 Maine farmers and home makers attending the 27th Farm and Home Week at Orono last week.

Struggling throughout the week with the current serious problems relating to credit, taxation, home relief measures and making the dollar do its utmost, the undentable grim determination was everywhere manifested.

WILSON'S MILLS

Mrs. Stevens

Mrs. Stevens, W. H. Hart's mother, passed away at 7:30 o'clock, Thursday, March 30th, after having seven hemorrhages during the day. The funeral was held Saturday at 10 a. m. Burial was at the Lincoln Plantation cemetery.

She was 93 years, 9 months old; a very pleasant woman; and loved to tell of the olden times. She was twice married, her first husband being Joseph Hart, who served in the Civil War as bugler. To them four children were born: Alfred of North Paris, Frank of Milan, N. H., William with whom she made her home for the past few years, and a daughter who died several years ago. She leaves, besides her sons, to mourn her loss, several grandchildren, great grandchildren and five great great grandchildren. She will be sadly missed by all who knew her.

There were a number of relatives from out of town to the funeral which was held at the home.

Mr. White, our meat and fish man from Lisbon, Me., was in town on Thursday.

Carlotta Hart, who has just had a weeks vacation from teaching Junior High at Magalloway, has gone back for the spring term, coming home each night.

Wonders in Wales

For many centuries Wrexham steeple or tower has been accounted one of the "wonders of Wales." It was built in 1472, replacing one blown down in 1331. It rises to a height of 135 feet and wholly overpowers the body of the church itself, and it is ornamented with the figures of 30 saints. In the church many American tourists seek out the epitaph and in the churchyard, the grave of Eliza Yale, the founder of Yale college of New Haven, who was born in America, but died in London. He was a descendant of the Welsh family of Plas in fal, pronounced "Yale." The epitaph of "Elizah," too long to quote here, is one of the quaintest rhymes to be found on any learned man's grave.
